it was only in 1972 that marijuana was deemed a schedule i drug under the controlled substances act by the us government because it was considered to be a drug that had no medicinal use in treatment