the kids haven't learned to be prejudiced yet against people who are different.

Dried oregano should be kept in a tightly sealed glass container in a cool, dark and dry place where it will keep fresh for about six months.